NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS.—Many added entertainment features have been arranged for the thousands of visitors to the twenty-ninth annual National Dairy show which will be staged at the State fairgrounds from October 2 to 15. It was revealed by Director Earl H. Hanford of the State Department of Agriculture, who is chairman of the Ohio committee for the show, included will be an intercollegiate stock judging contest with competition between agricultural college teams from more than thirty-five states; a national horse-pulling contest; an exhibit of dairy projects and food club work by 500 4-H club boys and girls in forty states; a special night show sponsored by the Pleasure Guild of Columbus; and a "Buckeye State Music Jubilee" in which Ohio's best amateur musicians will compete for more than $2,000 in cash awards. It is thought that 100,000 persons will attend the show at which will be shown 1,000 of the finest dairy cattle in the United States and Canada. Director Hanford said. Honor of making the first official entry went to Mrs. Ethel Peck Eschling of Salisbury, Conn., who will show Guernsey. A gala premiere to the show and the music jubilee will be a concert on the opening night by the United States Navy band.

Preparations have been completed by the state civil service commission for competitive examinations for more than 2,000 positions with the Unemployment Compensation Commission of Ohio. It was announced by Chairman Carl W. Smith of the civil service commission. The tests will be conducted in fifteen key cities—Akron, Athens, Cambridge, Canton, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Lima, Mansfield, Portsmouth, Sandusky, Steubenville, Toledo, and Youngstown—on October 25 to 28, inclusive, and from November 1 to 3, inclusive. Chairman Smith said. The tests will be held for field supervisors, local managers, accountants, inspectors, payroll clerks, stenographers and typists. Complete details and application forms may be obtained from the state civil service commission in Columbus.

Dr. Walter H. Harting, director of the State Department of Health, disclosed that two cases of a disease rare to this section of the country, known as Rocky Mountain spotted fever, have been reported to the department by Dr. R. E. Bower, health commissioner of Chillicothe and Ross county. The malady was contracted by two children who are neighbors, Dr. Bower said. They had been playing together in the woods and shrubbery near their homes and both were bitten by ticks. Dr. Bower agreed with the diagnosis of the children's physician with the qualification "that it is probably an eastern form of Rocky Mountain spotted fever."

A twenty-three per cent increase in job placements in private industry during August, when compared with July, was recorded by the Ohio state employment service which has eighteen state branches in leading industrial centers, according to Service Director W. T. Doe. The August placements totaled 5740 in private industry, while the grand total placements in both public and private classifications was 6890. During the month the active file of new applicants for employment decreased 0.7 per cent. August was the first month since November, 1937, that the active file failed to register a gain, Mr. Doe said.

Dr. J. Fremont Bateman, superintendent of the Columbus State hospital, has issued an appeal for magazines, books, games and puzzles for use by patients in the recreational therapy department. The magazines and books needed most are those with pictures and light reading matter, Dr. Bateman asserted.

TOM C. LONG GETS 1-10 YEAR PRISON TERM

The irony of fate befell Tom C. Long in Common Pleas Court Tuesday afternoon when he appeared before Judge George H. Smith and on a plea of guilty on an embezzlement charge was given a sentence of one to ten years in the penitentiary. Indictment by the grand jury was on a charge of defrauding Arthur Bahns, New Jasper farmer of $1,000 in a real estate transaction in May, 1931.

Long had been living in York, Pa., under an assumed name when located. He returned for the grand jury investigation with Sheriff Henkel and Prosecutor Shoup. He has since been out on bond signed by a number of Xenia friends.

No one extradited on a similar charge ever was brought back to this county with as much bombast and gusto as was Long. He held open-house for his friends while awaiting grand jury action. A number of Greene county farmers suffered from Long's speculations, including his mother, who is now making her home in the Masonic Home in Springfield.

Effort was made to effect settlement with Bahns so that Long could be given a parole but the $300 offered by Attorney Harry D. Smith, was turned down in as much as Bahns was out about $1,600. Prosecutor Marcus Shoup refused to join in recommendation for a suspended sentence unless Long could make full payment to Bahns. After much parley between the interested parties Judge Smith stated that he would not permit his court to be used as a collection agency and immediately passed sentence of one to ten years in the penitentiary.

Wednesday morning friends of Long made attempt to have Judge Smith open the case to provide for suspended sentence or a parole, but the Court held the case was closed when sentence was passed.

Xenia was seething Wednesday with much caustic comment on the outcome of the case both in the ranks of Long's close friends and citizens in general. A few friends contended that Long was tricked in pleading guilty and that somebody fell down on completing "arrangements." The quick action of passing sentence after guilty plea was as much of a shock to Long's friends as to the prisoner himself. Mention is made of local history in being viewed both by some of Long's friends and citizens. Others say Long was willing "to talk" but was not given a chance. Any statement he might make today following conviction would be looked upon as "sour grapes."

It is said on good authority that Farmer Bahns was pressing his claim for all he could get and had the $500 offered been made he would have accepted it. Tom Long was caught between the "long and short selling" and drew the one to ten year number.

The estimated weight of the stolen fowls is 6,500 pounds, making their market value approximately $1,500 at current prices.

FIRST HUNTER SHOT TUESDAY CCC FOREMAN

Clarence Martin, 25, Athens, O., field foreman on the Soil Conservation Service technical staff at CCC camp Greene, Xenia, was accidentally shot and died Tuesday afternoon on the Herndon D. Straley farm, south of Cedarville on the Spencer road.

Martin was in charge of a crew of 14 men engaged in building a stone dam in a gully, as part of a soil conservation project. Martin had borrowed a double barrel shot gun from Mr. Straley and went across a field to hunt squirrels. About 4:25 members of the crew heard shots and some of the men started an investigation and later found Martin's body in a corn field.

The charge had entered the neck below the jaw on the right side. It is believed that the unfortunate man slipped when he stepped on a fence rail and his knee tripped the hammer on the gun. His left hand was powdered burned.

Investigation was made by Sheriff George Henkel, Deputy Ralph Davis and Coroner R. C. Shick. The latter rendered a verdict of accidental death. Mr. Straley had loaned the gun with four shells but only one was discharged. The body was turned over to Whitmer and Chitty Funeral Home and later taken to Athens. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Fern Sewell Martin, a five year old daughter, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Martin, Athens.

CORN HUSKING CONTEST TO BE NEAR LONDON

Plans have been made for the Ohio Corn Husking Contest to be held at the Orleton Farms, near London, on Oct. 27 and 28.

The meeting was attended by Walter Lloyd, editor of the Ohio Farmer, Ray Kelsey, managing editor of the Ohio Farmer and director of the Ohio Corn Husking Contest, Neil Jones and George Eastwood, of Ohio State University. The contest is to be sponsored by the Ohio Farmer, Ohio State University and a committee from Madison County.

It was decided at the meeting that the contest this year is to cover a period of two days, Thursday, the first day, is to be devoted to the exhibits from Ohio State University, the machinery display and demonstrations and a banquet, to be held in London in the evening. The banquet is to be in charge of the London Chamber of Commerce, which is assisting in the plans for the contest. Having the machinery demonstrations on Thursday eliminates the hazard from snowing machinery, always dangerous in large crowds. It is expected that more than 10,000 will attend the Thursday events.

Friday is to be devoted entirely to the contest in both standing and shock corn, which is the big event of the two-day session. Because of the unusually fine corn on the Orleton Farms, the excellent location selected for the event and the fine facilities for handling the frame, it is expected that records will be established in both the corn contest, and in attendance.

R. Gwynn Burr, of Deercreek township, was elected the general chairman for the contest, and the following were selected as the general committee, to be in charge of all arrangements for the contest: James B. Anderson, W. G. Evers, Glenn F. Wood, Paul Sanford, Howard W. Black, Walter H. Howe, W. P. King, Walter Black, E. S. Jones, Earl Gorman Clark, G. B. Gorman, James S. Thompson, W. C. W. Fulton, manager of the Ohio Farmer, and County Agent Lyness F. Baker. It is expected that 50,000 will be on hand for the contest, which is a big job. It is also estimated that more than 250 men will be used in conducting the contest.

WHAT ABOUT CREDITORS AND CHILDREN?

The old age pension system in Ohio has its merits but if decisions of our courts, such as have been handed down in Greene county recently, the whole system is bound to fail.

Under social security as laid down in Washington the weight of public aid is laid on both the federal government and state governments. In Ohio an effort is being made to take the last cent of some unfortunate on the pension rolls on the theory that the state should be a preferred creditor over probably the grocer, the undertaker and a son or daughter, who jointly or singly may have made financial sacrifices over a period of years for one or both of the parents.

Thus we have a court decision in this county making the state first claimant over everyone else, seeking to take the last cent of a poor unfortunate that has passed on. Under social security great promises were held out to the unfortunate and pictures of what the duty of the state is to this class. However the last view if the court decision is to stand is to use the name of the state to grab the last cent as if it had been impossible for some son or daughter to ever have contributed to their parent's welfare. If the state is to be the god-father for the unfortunate let it assume the full financial responsibility and not rob the children for a few dollars.

Gov. Davey has done a great service to the state in refusing to bow to the dictators in Washington who threaten to withhold federal funds for aged pensioners in Ohio. The Governor has exposed the methods of the New Deal dictators who were using the aged for political purposes. Anything Governor Davey may have done along political lines has been publicly admitted, but the dictators in Washington, guilty of the same practices, would have the public believe otherwise.

If decisions such as Judge Henry of the Greene county Probate Court has rendered holding the state should come first to claim the last dollar of the deceased pensioner, and New Deal Washington continues using pensioners as political puppets, then it is time for the public to arise in protest. The present tactics are sure to react against the pension system if continued.

THE NEW HITCH-HIKER

We wonder how many millions of dollars raised by general taxation in this country have passed through the hands of New Dealers into the Communist cause. Our guess is that they would pay the cost of running Indiana's state government for a year, if not that of Ohio. That Communism is being indirectly subsidized by the American Government is the conclusion reached by Chairman Dies of the House committee investigating subversive activities. According to testimony thus far adduced, this is done through the Workers' Alliance which operates in WPA (and to which Administrator Hopkins addressed a comradely harangue not long ago) and through the Federal Theater and Federal Writers' projects. The refusal of the Roosevelt Administration to provide the Dies investigators with experts or with needed funds, coupled with the jeers of its chief and of Madam Secretary Perkins, leaves an unpleasant impression.

The picture presented is an elaboration of a text which we cited the other day: W. Z. Foster's statement that "we Communists know how to get things bought and paid for by others." Should they have their way, which we think they will not, the parasite presented would be that of the gangster who thumbs a ride from an unsuspecting driver, knocks him in the head, breaks his pockets, throws him out, drives on with the car at breakneck speed and unsmiles it against the abutments of a bridge. The gangster is Communist in disguise, the driver is Uncle Sam, the car is America, the bridge is immutable economic law.—Cincinnati Times Star.

RESULTS?

The time has come, it seems to us, to stop arguing about theories and policies, and instead to make a cool-headed survey of the actual state of the Union.

Nor is this as hard as it sounds. When this administration took office, it said what it was going to do, and it is not much of a job to check upon these undertakings. It has been in power for nearly six years. What did it promise, and what has it performed?

The first promise was to rescue the country from the post-war depression. Unemployment was to be overcome. The more abundant life was to be brought to the bottom one-third of the population.

Government expenses were to be reduced and the piling up of public debt stopped.

Agriculture was to be made prosperous, by the method of reducing production.

Prices were to be raised, domestic trade expanded, and foreign trade recaptured. The money-changers were to be driven from the temple.

The wages of labor were to be raised and hours of work shortened. There was to be, at the same time, an end to the constant quarrels of employers and employed.

The elderly and the unemployed were to be made secure, through contributions of themselves and their employers, in vast security funds.

Thus organized, a united people were to march happily forward to prosperity and freedom.

Well, what are the results? Are we prosperous? No. Of the twenty-five great nations, our production is lowest. Compared with 1929, our production figure is only 54; Canada is 91, Italy is 100, Great Britain is 124, Sweden 146.

Are we happy? No. Are farmers prosperous? Not as they should be. Are prices satisfactory? No. Is government expense down and debt decreasing? The taxes reasonable? Is unemployment reduced? Are industry and labor at peace? Are the ill-fed, ill-clothed and ill-housed really more secure? Are our liberties safe, and is there good feeling among all classes?

To ask these questions is to answer them. It is not enough to say "Well, their intentions were good." Good intentions in government will not do. Nor can you say, "Well, there was opposition, and unforeseen circumstances came up." A good government can foresee circumstances, and knows how to frame its policies so as to disarm opposition.

But let that pass. Everyone's concern now should be to find what can and should be done about it.

Certainly the policies that have been followed since 1933 could not have found us in such a state in 1935 if they were right. The results prove they are wrong. Who can we enlist to correct them?

The majority used to be reasonably happy, general prosperity reasonably harmonious. It is unnatural for us to be poor, quarreling among ourselves, and fearful of the future. Nor is it necessary: there are better policies which can be carried out by wiser men.—Farm Journal.

That war and talk of war threatens business it cannot be denied. All business in every line has suffered much the past week. Retail business is at a low ebb because the public has its mind on world affairs.

Secretary Wallace we are told is writing a new AAA bill to present to the next Congress. This will be the third perfect bill the Secretary has drawn, each of the others being perfect until put in force. If at first you don't succeed—just try again.

Under legislation of the New Deal

America cannot go to the aid of any other nation engaged in war, even aid for the country being invaded unjustly. More over we cannot sell war materials, clothing food or machinery to the unfortunate country regardless of the fact innocent people there might be starving to death. If nations do not declare war such as the war of Japan on China then sales are permitted, such wars being declared illegal under the modern way of describing what constitutes war. Politicians in this country have sold innocent China several hundred half worn out airplanes while scrap iron by the ship load has gone to Japan. It may be somewhat inconsistent but such is the case under the New Deal.

Sec. Wallace says it would take two years of war before farm prices would soar as they did before the World War ended. This week labor leaders started a movement in Washington urging the New Deal to peg the prices of all grain, meats, wool, cotton, sugar, etc., for a period of the duration of any war and these prices to remain just as they were the day war was declared. Meantime labor leaders continue the war for higher wages.

President O'Neal, Alabama, head of the American Farm Bureau Federation, in a recent speech praised the Wallace AAA program as a safe and sane plan for controlled farming and that farmers would approve it. According to a clipping from Georgia the cotton farmers do not share that belief with O'Neal. At the recent primary Farmer Governor Talmadge, who openly opposed the entire New Deal farm program, ran second to Gen. George for the senatorial nomination. Moreover, Talmadge carried more rural counties than did George. The cotton vote in South Carolina where Sen. Smith was renominated over the protest of FDR was from the rural counties on the farm issue. Sen. Smith was head of the Agricultural Committee that held up the bill for months.

During the week we have been close to war and then all of a sudden the clouds would pass away. Hitler had his speech but it was not convincing that he was really dangerous. Roosevelt put his paddle in the pond just as Woodrow Wilson did in 1918. It is the treaty of Versailles that is causing the trouble now. England, France and probably Italy will have a hand in passing some of the coal and iron mountain land belonging to the Czechs to Germany without compensation. The treaty provided that France would protect the Czechs but this document was broken to satisfy Hitler who is to get land without conquest not even owned or controlled by those making the gift. No wonder Hitler had no confidence in Chamberlain. Poland will insist on having a slice of the coveted land. Let's not talk of treaties backed only by intolerance, greed, revenge. We need international friendship and more-over international morality.

The ink was hardly dry on this column last Thursday when we commented upon the charges that Greene county Republicans were using coercion on old age pensioners by H. J. Berroddin, Chief of the State Division of Aid for the Aged, when Gov. Martin L. Davey fired Berroddin for political activity in the combat between the New Deal and the state administration. This left the Greene county charge in the air. Now we wonder who is to investigate the local board political activity. Gov. Davey

Use Dairy Dollars As Bait For Profit

Ohio dairymen who ask the best way to invest $3.50 to $4.00 a month are told by C. L. Blackman, animal husbandry specialist, Ohio State University, to join the nearest herd improvement association and get the services of a private secretary who will make a report once each month on the habits of the cows in the dairy herd.

Cows are not the simple, contented beasts that people give them credit for being. Mr. Blackman contends that each cow is a factory and so presents problems of management which are not apparent until the cow tester turns in his monthly report on feed consumed and milk and butterfat produced by each cow.

Ohio herd improvement associations tested 7,240 cows in 1922 which produced an average of 306 pounds of butterfat. In 1936, the average production for each of the 7,881 cows tested in the state was 337 pounds of butterfat. Dairy cows produce milk and butterfat to the limit of their ability if they are fed the proper amounts of the right feeds.

Mr. Blackman's contention is that no farmer can tell the real worth of any cow in his herd until he has individual production records for this animal. The cow's ancestors may have been some of the best in the breed but this particular cow may be the worst chisel ever fed in a dairy barn.

A few years ago dairymen were told that high-producing cows had to have large amounts of grains and concentrates. The records obtained by Ohio associations provide evidence that contradicts that kind of advice. Walter Hack, Medina, has records for 11 years on his dairy herd, both for production and for kinds and amounts of feed consumed.

Last year his 17 cows produced an average of 5,238 pounds of milk and 434 pounds of butterfat. The cows consumed an average of 1,921 pounds of grain during the year. In 1930, Mr. Hack had nine cows which averaged 3,053 pounds of milk and 455 pounds of butterfat while eating 750 pounds of grain.

The average amount of grain fed in this herd has been reduced 46 per cent but the cows now produce more milk and butterfat than the average for the herd when the grain ration was at its peak. Mr. Blackman says the answer is that the Medina dairymen improved the quality of roughage and pasture consumed by his cows.

Mr. Hack fed each cow 6,230 pounds of silage and 2,448 pounds of hay in 1930 and the cows were on pasture 92 days. The comparative figures for 1937 were 7,045 pounds of silage, 2,172 pounds of hay, and 184 days of pasture. Pasture days in 1930 were reduced by drought but that was not the only difference between the 1930 and 1937 pasture conditions.

This dairymen has improved by application of lime and fertilizer every acre of permanent pasture on his farm and has prepared all of his rotation crop land so it will produce alfalfa or clover. Of the hay fed in 1930, each cow received 2,188 pounds of timothy and 800 pounds of alfalfa. Last year, each cow received 1,812 pounds of clover hay and 280 pounds of alfalfa.

The total number of pounds of grain and roughage fed to the Hack herd in 1937 was less than in 1930. Both grain and hay had been reduced but silage had been increased and the number of pasture days had been doubled. Grass from properly managed pastures is much better food than that from roughage pastures and legume hay is a much better roughage for dairy cattle than timothy.

Mr. Blackman says credit must be given to Mr. Hack for an unusual ability to improve the quality of his cattle. He has owned two of the four proved Guernsey sires which have been accredited in Ohio, which is excellent evidence there has been no neglect in selecting the best sires for this herd.

However, Mr. Blackman says even the best cows cannot produce to their maximum capacity unless the feeding program furnishes the needed raw materials. He believes Mr. Hack's dairy herd is one of the most striking examples in the United States.

Mr. Harry Hamman is moving this week to his father's residence on South Main st.

Hunters this week are out trying to trip Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel. Under a new law hunters must wear a number with large figures on his back. Next year it will be numbers for the squirrel.

SUNDAY SCHOOL NOTES

Today we begin a series of studies which should be of unusual value, a consideration of the Ten Commandments in the light of the teachings of Jesus and related New Testament passages. It is appropriate to point out that, far from being outmoded, the Ten Commandments are really the basis of all moral law. They need a diligent re-study and re-emphasis in our day of disregard of moral standards. As interpreted by the Lord Jesus and applied to our daily living, the truth of these commandments should be brought home to every boy and girl and man and woman in our Bible schools.

The lessons begin at the right point, for the first commandment properly deals with our conception of God. What a man thinks about God determines his entire outlook on life. We begin right when we declare that there is but one God.

I. The Truth Stated—There is One True God (Exod. 20:2, 3). Jehovah means "I will be what I will be," or "I am that I am." (Exod. 3:14). His very name declares God to be the self-existent, eternal one. How infinitely gracious then is the use of the word "thy" in verse 21. He—the great I AM—is my God.

There are many things concerning which we do not speak dogmatically. There are even Christian doctrines about which spiritual and earnest men may honestly differ, but regarding God we say with absolute assurance and complete exclusiveness—there is but one true God. If He is what He claims to be, if God is not to be declared to be a liar, then it is beyond the realm of possibility that there could be any other God. Hear it, ye men and women of America who in an enlightened land and age bow down in heathenish worship before the god of gold, the god of self, the god of war, the god of success, the god of fame, the god of pleasure, the god of licentiousness. The one true God says: "I am Jehovah, thou shalt have no other gods before me."

II. The Truth Explained. 1. God is our Deliverer (Exod. 20:2). He who brought Israel out of the bondage of Egypt is the one, and the only one who can deliver men from the bondage of sin. If you think that a sinner is not in bondage read Titus 2:13 and Romans 6:16 and then read the verses following in both passages, and not only see but follow the way of deliverance.

2. God is our Saviour (Isa. 45:22). Again note that "there is none else" who can save. "Neither is there salvation in any other; for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:12).

It was this verse that led one of the world's greatest preachers, Charles Haddon Spurgeon, to accept Christ as his Saviour when he was just a humble lad. Perhaps some boy or girl who reads these lines may do likewise, and become a great instrument in God's hand. Teacher, perhaps the Spurgeon of the next generation will be in your class today. Win him for Christ!

Tracy and Rooney Teamed

Academy Award Winner Spencer Tracy and the screen's greatest juvenile, Mickey Rooney are gloriously co-starred in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Boys Town" opening Friday, September 26, at the Regent theater in Springfield, for a week of inspiring entertainment.

True-life story of Father Flanagan's files, the film reveals his dramatic twenty-one year struggle to found a home for neglected and abandoned boys. More than a year ago the studio became interested in Boys Town, the only incorporated village of its kind in the world. This city of little men, governed and operated by youngsters who range in age from six to eighteen, has a population of 275, of which 200 are boys, and is situated on the main highway west of Omaha, Nebraska. This is a $250,000.00 movie. Quiz contest picture.

Co-Operative Club Meets

Talk On European

Trip By Prof. Boda

Members of the Co-Operative Club held their first fall dinner meeting Monday evening at Sears Hotel with Prof. Boda, principal of Lincoln Junior High School, Dayton, who just recently returned from an European trip where he spent much time in Germany with a delegation of Y. M. C. A. boys, as speaker. Other countries visited were England, France, Switzerland and Belgium.

Prof. Boda says the greatest difficulty Europe faces today is enforcement or recognition of the Versailles treaty under Woodrow Wilson. He gave credit for sincerity of purpose but thought leaders on this side were not aware of the complexity of national differences that existed then and now between the European groups that were placed under one government to be known as Czechoslovakia. With so many different peoples it was almost a hopeless task of making them live as one nation. There being more Germans than other nationalities it would be natural they would want to return to their mother country. He says the German people have great faith in Hitler who took leadership of this great nation at a time when there was a 150 different political parties. He pictured that the Christian nations of the world had placed their heel on Germany's neck and that he could and would restore the nation to its rightful place among the powers of the world. Hitler organized the Nationalist Socialist party and today his power is supreme; there being no other political party with any strength.

The rule of the dictator was invoked and it seemed Germany would rather have this form of government than what she had following the World War. The schools are under his direction and only such subjects are taught that please him. Everything is backed by the military idea. At present he is warring on the Jews particularly because he must have a common cause that will appeal to all his people. He has asked religious leaders to eliminate the Old Testament from the Bible owing to the Jewish history in it.

Most of Germany is prosperous from the standpoint of the necessities of life. The rich are heavily taxed.

but permitted to take big profits in business and industry. The section of society known as the middle class suffers most and for the poor they are fed in keeping with their station.

Germany has no money of any value outside of that country. It has been written up and down so often as to value other nations do not recognize it. You are not allowed to take it out of the country but you can leave all the American money you desire.

All farm products are raised under government dictation and all prices are fixed by the government, the farmer being given enough only for a small profit.

Prof. Boda gave a graphic description of the wonderful works of art in the cathedrals which had been inspired by artists from a religious standpoint. The talk was not only timely but interesting and instructive.

The Co-Operative club gave endorsement of the coming bond issue of the November election to provide more and better fire equipment for the village. The club urged public support of this bond issue in that the present equipment was old and uncertain of use at times when most needed. Property owners face increased insurance rates if the equipment is not kept in condition to guarantee protection to property in case of fire.

The program committee expects to have another outside speaker at the next meeting in two weeks and when possible throughout the winter.

The semi-annual congregational dinner for the United Presbyterian congregation was held in the church dining room on Wednesday evening when a covered dish dinner was served. Dr. Donald Kyle, congregational chairman, presided, while Mrs. Fred Townsend was chairman of the program committee. Reports from the various organizations were presented. Recognition was taken of the fact that the present building was erected fifty years ago this year. Music during the evening was furnished by the men's quartet from the choir.

The regular meeting of the Research Club will be held at the home of Mrs. A. E. Huey, Wednesday, afternoon, Oct. 5th. Members please note the change in day.
